SKIBBEREEN

IS a large and populous market, post and fair town, situate on the river Ilen, in the south-western part of the county of Cork, and distant 166 miles south west of Dublin, 43 south-west of Cork, and 27 south west of Bandon. It is a very brisk and thriving place, the shopkeepers are generally highly respectable, and carry on a very extensive retail trade. It has also two large flour mills and a considerable brewery. The manufacture of coarse linens is yet in its infancy, but, as in most other places in this county, is in an improving state, and there is a large yarn market on Saturdays. Skibbereen is situate in two parishes, the church of one of which is four miles distant, and the other, in the town, is in so dilapidated a state, that a new one is about to be erected, which, with a handsome Catholic chapel already begun, and a session house and bridewell immediately to be proceeded with, will greatly tend to the improvement and general appearance of the town. A new line of road to Bantry is also marked out, which will prove a great convenience, as the communication with that town is at present by a circuitous round of 17 miles, whereas the new road will not exceed 12, by which it is intended to run the mail from Cork, through Clonakilty and Skibbereen to Bantry. Here are several charity schools for the education of the poor, with a dispensary, attended by a physician, where the afflicted receive advice and medicine, and it is calculated that upwards of 2000 persons are annually relieved by this most beneficent institution. Skibbereen has a good market on Saturdays, and six fairs in the year, viz. on the 14th of May, the 10th of July, the 2nd of August, the 12th of October, and the 11th and 23rd of December, besides which a very considerable fair is held about a mile and a half from the town, on St. Patrick's day. The pleasant village of Castle-Townsend, about four miles distant, is delightfully situated on the sea shore, and commands a charmingly varied and beautiful prospect. It is thickly inhabited by an opulent gentry, and here the customs for this district, embracing a very wide extent of country, are collected. It possesses the convenience of a custom house, with a resident collector and the usual officers.

POST OFFICE, Main-street.—Post Master, Mr. George Lewis. The mail from Dublin and all parts of Great Britain, arrives every afternoon at half-past four, and is despatched in the morning at eight.
