BALLYMONEY

Is a market, post, and fair town in the county of Antrim, 7 miles south east of Coleraine, 15 north west of Ballymena, and 40 north west of Belfast. It is the property of Lord Mark Kerr. In the rebellion of 1798, this town was nearly consumed by fire; it has been since rebuilt, and very considerably improved. Here are a small church adorned with a tower, a Roman Catholic chapel, and two Dissenting preaching houses. In the centre of the town is a good market house, over which are held the quarter sessions, and a monthly manor court. The school-house, founded by the trustees of Erasmus Smyth, educates 110 boys and girls. Contiguous to the town, in a western direction, is Leslie-hill, the residence of James Leslie, esq. The mansion is a spaciuous modern building, and the domain well wooded. In this town is a Mendicity Society, to prevent the necessity of begging; it is supported by subscription; the aged and sick are provided for, and employment procured for those who are able to work. Here the road leading to the Giant's Causeway branches off; if this circumstance was more generally known by visitors to that natural curiosity, a distance of seven miles might be saved, it being customary for strangers to proceed to Coleraine. A good linen market is held on the first and third Thursday in the month; also a monthly market for domestic purposes on the first Monday in every month. Fairs are held on the 5th of May, the 10th of July, and the 6th of October. The population is near 2000.

POST OFFICE, Main-street.—Post Master, Mr. Richard Hamilton. The Dublin and Belfast mails are despatched at one in the night, and arrive at fifty minutes past seven every evening, Fridays excepted. All English letters go by way of Dublin. Office hours from seven in the morning till eleven at night.

BALLYNAHINCH,

A Small market town in the county of Down, is seventy-four miles north of Dublin, and eleven miles south of Belfast. It is situated among rocky hills, which are now in a good state of cultivation. The public buildings are the church, a Presbyterian meeting house, one for Seceders, a Roman Catholic chapel, and the market house. The church is a very neat structure with a spire, and the Presbyterian meeting house deserves to be noticed. Within a couple of miles of this town there are two spas, one sulphurous, the other chalybeate, both efficacious in several complaints. On the 13th of June, 1798, a great body of rebels was defeated near this town by General Nugent. Here are seven Sunday schools in which upwards of one thousand children receive gratuitous instruction. The town is the property of David Kerr, esq, who has a fine estate in the neighbourhood. The market day is Thursday, and fairs are held on the first Thursday in January, the 12th of February, the 6th of March, the 13th of May, the 10th of July, the first Thursday in August (old style), and the first Thursday in November (old style).
