COOKSTOWN,

A MARKET. post and fair town in the county of Tyrone, is 81 miles north by west of Dublin, $\frac{1}{2}$ north west of Stewartstown, 3 south west of Money more, 8 north by west of Dungannon, 21 east north east of Omagh, and 34 west of Belfast. It consists of one street, near a mile in length, through the greater part of which it is adorned on each side with a row of lofty trees. Adjoining the town is Killymoone, the beautiful castle and demesne of Lieut. Colonel Stewart, M. P. for the county, and proprietor of the place; on the opposite side, about half a mile distant, is Derry Loran Glebe, the residence of the present rector, the Rev. Wm. Mauleverer. The church is a neat, stone, Gothic edifice, with an elegant and lofty spire, finished in 1821. Near the glebe part of the walls of the old church are still remaining. In the year 1761 a Presbyterian meeting house was erected here, and near to it, in 1802, one for Se-ceders. The Catholics and Methodists have also each a place of worship. The charitable institutions are a dispensary, under the superintendence of Surgeon Thomas Dickson, and two Sunday schools. A market is held on Saturday for linen cloth and provisions; the 7-8ths and 3-4ths lineus are remarkable for their superior quality. A corn market is also held on Tuesday. There are fairs on the 8th and 16th of February, the 28th of March, the 8th of May, the 15th of June, the 7th of August, the 4th of September, the 10th of October, and the 6th of November. The population is near 1500.

POST OFFICE.—Post Master, Mr. Matthew Patteson. The Dublin Mail leaves at half-past twelve, and arrives at one in the day. The North Mail arrives at a quarter-past twelve at noon, and leaves at a quarter-past one. Letters for England go by the Dublin Mail, and those for Scotland through Belfast, to Donaghadee.

No Coaches pass through Cookstown.
The Belfast Union Day Coach runs from Magherafelt, distant seven miles, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, at seven, and returns on the following evening at eight. The Dublin Mail, also, from Dungannon, distant about eight miles, every day at four in the afternoon, and returns every morning at ten.

Goods are conveyed to any part of Ireland, by Cars hired for the purpose.

COOTEHILL,

IN the county of Cavan, is a neat town, 52 miles north west of Dublin, 12 south of Monaghan, 12 north east of Cavan, 10 south east of Clones, and 7 south west of Ballibay. It stands on a river of the same name, and contiguous to it is Belmont Forest, the beautiful demesne of Charles Coote, esq. which, being well wooded, contributes much to the appearance of the town. The staple trade is the manufacture of linen sheeting, which is deservedly held in great estimation throughout Ireland. Here are seven public places of worship, namely, a new well built church at the lower extremity of the town, of which the Rev. James Hamilton is rector; two Presbyterian chapels, a Roman Catholic, a Methodist, and a Moravian chapel, and a Quakers' meeting house.

General sessions are held twice a year. The regular weekly market on Friday is plentifully supplied with provisions of all kinds from the adjacent country, which is well cultivated. Fairs are held on the 12th of March, the 9th of June, the 12th of September, and the 6th of December. The population is upwards of 1000.

POST OFFICE. Market-street.—Post Mistress, Miss Mary Wallace. The Dublin Mail is despatched at five in the evening in Summer and at four in Winter, and arrives at eight in the morning. The Virginia and Stradone mails arrive and depart with the Dublin mail. Letters for England go by the Dublin-mail, and those for Scotland by Donaghadee
